A GRAND STAND FALLS

Shocking Accident at a Football Game.

Thousands Precipitated to the Ground.

Despite the Accident, Yale Wins a Great Game From Princeton.

NEW YORK, November 27.—A terrible accident occurred at Eastern Park, Brooklyn, before the Yale-Princeton football game today.

The big free stand, on the eastern side of the grounds, suddenly collapsed, carrying down its entire load of human beings. There were more than 2000 people on the structure at the time.

A scene of indescribable confusion and panic followed the crash. The occupants were mostly men. The great majority of them were injured. There were also many women in the struggling mass. Many were completely buried. The screams, shrieks and groans were awful. Many fainting away from the injuries they received.

In an instant there was a general rush for that part of the field and a score of police were soon engaged in pulling the wounded from the wreck. Others lent assistance and within ten minutes the whole place was cleared.

At first it was feared that some were killed, but this proved unfounded. A great many persons, however, were severely hurt and broken limbs and bruised heads and bodies were numerous.

Many friends of the people hurt had them carried away before their names could be learned. Among those whose names were learned are: Charles Wilson, ankle broken; Perrin Darney, of the Military Institute, Peckskill, back badly sprained; Emory B. Remington, of Princeton, leg broken; a Yale man, name not learned, concussion of the spine; two Rutgers College students, heads bruised and cut; John Monroe, of Princeton, crushed leg; S. I. Dunning, Princeton, '91, broken ankle; George A. Wylie, thigh broken; James McGillicuddy, internal injuries; T. S. Keller, Columbia, '91, broken wrist; John Weed, of Yale, injured internally; Stephen P. Spear, of Yale, arm broken; John Carruthers, of Wesleyan University, badly cut on the head; Eldridge, Princeton, '94, both legs injured; Curley, Princeton, '94, concussion of the brain, very serious; Edward Moran, of Yale, leg broken; McKean, of Princeton, fractured leg; Bradley, Princeton, '92, both legs badly hurt; H. W. Fuller, scalp wound; George A. Johnson, concussion. A lot of boys, names not learned, who stood on the top row of the bleachers, were badly bruised and cut. The only ladies hurt were two Brooklyn ladies. The lowest estimate of the people injured is fifty.

The stand was evidently in a most unsafe condition, while the whole structure was a most flimsy affair.

HOW THE GAME WENT.
Princeton stood no show of victory from the beginning.

NEW YORK, November 27.—The championship football game, between Princeton and Yale, which was contested on the Eastern Park grounds today, was won by Yale, 32 to 0.

The game was witnessed by 25,000 people, who had recovered from the depression caused by the accident of a couple of hours before and manifested their enthusiasm in every conceivable manner. Their sympathies were evenly divided.

The game was a great one, but the Princeton eleven was over matched. Their rush line seemed mere striplings compared with Yale and frequently used bad judgment. When the first ended Yale had scored 16 and Princeton 0.

When the second half began no one was in doubt about the result and a gloom had fallen over the Princeton contingent. Their eleven seemed incapable of stopping the rush of Yale. In thirteen minutes Yale had increased their score to 28, and thereafter only exerted themselves to shut out Princeton, succeeding well as the score tells.

Accident After a Football Game.
INDIANAPOLIS, November 27.—The Butler eleven defeated Purdue in the University game of football today. The victorious team to celebrate tonight made the rounds of the city in a trolley coach. ## THE GREAT EXPOSITION

ADJOURNMENT OF THE COMMISSION UNTIL NEXT APRIL.

President Harrison to be Notified That All is Now in Readiness for Him to Issue His Proclamation.

CHICAGO, November 27.—The World's Fair National Commission last evening adjourned until next April, leaving all in shape for a communication to be sent to President Harrison, notifying him of the acceptance of a site and the plans and specifications of the buildings for the World's Columbian Exposition, according to act of Congress. One thing only now remains before President Harrison issues a proclamation to the world, fixing the date for the opening and closing of the exposition, a formal notification from the Local Directory that the World's Fair corporation has at its command funds to the amount of $1,000,000. This notification is expected to be promptly made.

The Commission had an acrimonious debate this morning over the report of the Committee on Buildings and Grounds, Commissioner De Young pointing out that the plans of the buildings were merely in verbal outline, without working the plans, and declared that a loophole was left, through which the Local Directory might come out with a lot of mere shells. He moved that the buildings be made of glass, steel and iron, and be fireproof. After a lengthy discussion, his suggestion that the buildings be fireproof was adopted and the report of the Committee then adopted.

The matter of Sunday closing, suggested by the Lady Managers, was postponed until the directors prepare rules for the government of the fair.

The lady managers also adjourned after they received a communication from the Executive Committee of the Commission, informing the Board that it might adopt such measures and agencies to carry out its work as it decided, subject to the approval of the Commission. The Committee agreed to place separate buildings or a pavilion under the control of the Board and asked that the members of the Board join the members of the Commission in interesting the people of their States in the exposition.

Chairman Walker, of the Foreign Affairs Committee, today telegraphed Mr. Blaine regarding the incident of day before yesterday, assuring him that neither the committee nor the Commission considered the Department's movement in any sense a political one. "Some people," he added, "can discover politics in the Lord's prayer, but they are, fortunately, neither numerous nor influential." Governor Waller added that the report of the committee had been unanimously adopted. Secretary Blaine telegraphed thanks in return.

MORE PEACEFUL NEWS

Indians Disposed to Quit the Ghost Dance.

Sioux Chieftains Coming in for Rations.

Apprehensions Still Felt on the Edge of the Reservation in Dakota.

CHICAGO, November 27.—General Miles this evening said that today's advices from General Brooke were of a very satisfactory nature. He confirms the report that Chief Little Wound came into Pine Ridge Agency yesterday, and says that every hour seems to lessen the strength of the disaffected Indians. Short Bull, of Rosebud Agency, has also come in and his people, numbering nearly 2500, are reported as following. The General considers Short Bull one of the worst and most treacherous Indians in the Northwest.

The General today replied to Governor Mellette's communication, informing him that nothing will be left undone for the protection of life and property where danger is apprehended.

APPREHENSIONS AT PIERRE.
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., November 27.—The Tribune's special from Pierre, S. D., says: The statements made by cattlemen Phillips and Waldron, the substance of which was telegraphed to General Miles by Governor Mellette last night, created much excitement there. Phillips and Waldron are known to be intimately acquainted with all the prominent Indians and their ways, having married into the tribe, and great reliance is placed in their assertion that trouble is coming.

What makes the matter more serious is the report that army officers have been ordered to capture Short Bull and some other leaders. Phillips and Waldron are sure such an attempt will precipitate bloodshed. In case of an outbreak grave apprehensions are felt for settlers in the counties to the north, as roving bands of Indians can scatter up there and destroy everything long before troops could catch them.

TROUBLE BELIEVED OVER.
OMAHA, November 27.—At 1 o'clock this morning a special from Pine Ridge gives information that would indicate that the war is practically over. At least Little Wound, accompanied by his chief lieutenants, Yellow Hair, Yellow Bear and Broken Arm, came into the agency tonight and have signified their intention of holding a conference with the agent in the morning. Lieutenant Taylor's band of scouts is en route to Fort Robinson for equipment.

CONCENTRATING AT PASS CREEK.
ST. PAUL, November 27.—A Pioneer Press special from Pierre, S. D., says: Two ranchmen, who came into town today, report having met a large band of Indians some distance west, coming from the Cheyenne country and heading for the Pass Creek camp. The belief is prevalent among old frontiersmen that the Indians are concentrating their forces and supplies near the entrance to the Bad Lands.

WHAT THE NAVAJO BELIEVE.
DURANGO, Col., November 27.—It is reported that the Navajo Indians are greatly excited over reports from Dakota. Their theory is that the Messiah is none other than Isador Cohn, who is known throughout Southern Colorado as "Nosey" Cohn, a trader well acquainted with their tongues and customs. The Southern Utes talk of the craze with but little interest.

TROOPS FROM INDIAN TERRITORY.
OKLAHOMA CITY, I. T., November 27.—Captain Stills, in command of troops at Oklahoma, has received orders to march at a moment's notice. This order applies also to troops stationed at Elkins, Fort Sill, Kingfisher and Guthrie.

FAULTY SUPPORTS.
Causes Trouble to the Boilers of an Old Man-of-War.

SAN FRANCISCO, November 27.—The Chronicle says: The United States steamer Alert, which is under orders to relieve the Swatara on the China station, and has been at Mare Island several months undergoing repairs, was to have sailed December 5, and everything was in readiness.

On Monday last, as a final preparation, she was taken to the dry dock to have her bottom scraped and painted. The workmen had hardly commenced operations when they heard a rumbling noise. Investigation showed that about twenty square feet of iron boiler supports had fallen in amidship. The heavy iron beams were found to have corroded away and the heavy boilers were resting on the ship's bottom.

The Alert, although old was regarded as a staunch vessel. A large force was at once put to work making repairs and are working night and day to get the ship in readiness to sail December 10. Had the supports held out until she was at sea the heavy boilers would probably have fallen clear through and she would have immediately sunk.

A BRUTAL MURDER.

SMALLPOX ON A TRAIN.

Great Excitement Occasioned by a Discovery on a Passenger Car.

SALT LAKE CITY, November 27.—There was great excitement on the east-bound Oregon Short Line train yesterday, after leaving Pocatello, when it was discovered that a man in one of the coaches was sick with smallpox. He had been on the train some time and the train hands had passed and repassed through the coaches. Besides this there were twelve other passengers in the coach with him.

A FRONTIER DUEL.

AN INDIAN KILLED NEAR SNOHOMISH, WASHINGTON.

Accuses a White Man of Assaulting a Squaw and Shooting Ensnared—The Slayer Escapes.

SEATTLE, November 27.—A special to the Post-Intelligencer from Snohomish, Wash., says: A pitched battle, with fatal results, took place this morning between a rancher named Jerry Gould and an Indian known as Beaver, at the Forks, six miles east of Snohomish.

The Indian claimed that Gould assaulted his squaw and after a hot argument Beaver threatened to shoot Gould if the latter did not put up $100. Gould refused and Beaver opened fire on him with a musket. Gould ran into his house and returned with a rifle and the shooting began in earnest. Gould's shot struck the Indian under the left arm, killing him instantly.

Other Indians swear vengeance on Gould, who at once fled from the scene and has not been seen since. Word reached the police here late this afternoon and they are looking for Gould, who escaped uninjured in the fight.

POLITICS IN ENGLAND

Split Between the Liberals and Irish.

Parnell Believes That He Has Been Wronged.

If Ousted From the Leadership, He Will Appeal to the Irish People.

LONDON, November 27.—In the Commons today, Spencer asked that the government, in view of the recent financial crisis, introduce a bill to amend the bank act by providing for the issuance of £1 notes.

Balfour introduced an Irish land bill. He said the government's policy was the same as in 1880. Both portions of the bill, however, are not the same as in the bill in 1880. It excluded all purely grazing farms and farms whose tenants did not reside on them. The limit of twenty years' purchase, the objection to the last session's bill, has been removed.

In regard to increasing the power of the local authorities, Balfour said it would be absurd to leave the community under the incitement of agitators. If they were to give local control in any form, it ought to be by a plebiscite of state taxpayers, enabling them, under the safeguard of the ballot, to vote on the question of granting a portion of the guarantee fund.

Gladstone, Harcourt and Morely walked out before a vote was taken. Parnell and all the Parnellites voted with the government. The bill was then given its first reading, amid the cheers of the government supporters.

When the Parnellites were flocking into the division lobby to vote on Labouchere's amendment there was a sudden movement, apparently instigated by Healy, who, with Seaton and a number of other turned back and abstained from voting, while Parnell, Powers and thirty others supported the government.

After the House rose, a hurried meeting of Nationalists was called in the conference room. Parnell was not present and great secrecy is observed as to what was done.

Healy is very reticent and refuses to say anything about the Irish leaders' intentions. Parnell appears to be in buoyant spirits.

A noticeable incident occurred in the Commons when Parnell went to vote on Labouchere's amendment. Parnell had to pass the Liberal benches and his late allies studiously ignored him. It is stated that if Parnell remains in the leadership Sexton and other Irish members will offer themselves for reelection in order to test the feeling of the electors.

It is understood that at Monday's meeting of Parnellites a resolution was adopted recognizing Parnell's great services, but calling on him to resign the leadership.

One of Parnell's closest personal friends declares that Parnell regards the movement to expel him as a radical revenge for his support of the royal grants last summer, and that he will resist to the last this attempt to destroy the independence of the Irish party and make them a mere appendage to the Liberal party.

GENERAL OPINION.
Parnell Determined to Remain Leader. Comments of the Liberals.

LONDON, November 27.—The Press Association says Parnell considers that he has been unfairly treated by some of his colleagues, who practically owe their positions to him. He also feels strongly about Gladstone's attitude and is more determined than ever to remain. If Monday's meeting opposes him, he will appeal to the Irish people.

The Dublin Free Press Journal says that Parnell will issue a manifesto to the Irish people and meanwhile asks them to suspend judgment.

Labouchere has written Parnell, urging him to withdraw.

Earl Spencer, in a speech tonight, while eulogizing Parnell's work, said the opinion of the Liberals is clearly against Parnell's continuance as leader. If he did not retire the Irish cause would be rolled back and it would be a mighty misfortune to both Ireland and the empire.

The News again appeals to Parnell to accept Lord Spencer's calm advice and not give his followers the painful duty of rejecting him.

More Favorable to Parnell.
LONDON, November 27.—Tim Halley and Parnell had a conference today. The feeling among the Nationalists is more favorable to Parnell and the opinion prevails that they will sustain him.

Arrested for Manslaughter.
ANN ARBOR, Mich., November 27.—Great excitement was caused here this afternoon by the arrest of five young men concerned in the recent row, which resulted in the death of Student Dennison, on a charge of manslaughter. The case will be pressed.

THE UNION PACIFIC.

Jay Gould Gives a Statement of How Adams Managed the Road.

NEW YORK, November 27.—Tomorrow, the Tribune will print an interview with Jay Gould, in which he says: "Ex-President Adams, of the Union Pacific, is a theorist who conducted many affairs of the Union Pacific without the knowledge of the directors."

Gould said he learned when last in Kansas City, that Adams personally owned the controlling interest in the stock yards there, and while the railroads were carrying live stock at bare cost the stock yards earned $1,000,000 the past year. Such an action as this, Gould said, would never be permitted under the new management, he believed.

The conversion of Mrs. Stanford was brought about by Miss Helen McCarthy, her private secretary.

THE GREAT FAILURE

HOW THE COMPANY'S OFFICIALS ACCOUNT FOR IT.

A Number of Reasons Given Why the Income of the Corporation Has Decreased So Largely Late.

NEW YORK, November 27.—The directors of the Oregon Improvement Company, in a circular issued to its stockholders, showing why the company is in an embarrassed condition, says: The Seattle fire, depression following the real estate excitement in the West and the consequent falling off in the earnings of the Southern California route, a decrease in the coal business, on account of fires in the mines, and labor troubles, and loss of the coal contract with the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company, are among the causes. There is now a floating debt of $2,000,000. The short time and demand loans and the tightening of the money market made it impossible to raise money to pay this and it was found impossible to provide for the interest and sinking fund payment on the first mortgage bonds.

In order to prevent attachments on the property in Oregon, it was thought best to temporarily place the property in the hands of a receiver.

FATALLY BURNED.

A Sad Thanksgiving Day Accident.

The Rescuers Quite Severely Injured.

The Old, Old Story of a Stove, a Coal Oil Can, a Match and an Explosion.

Miss Oline Hollander was fatally burned yesterday at the residence of George W. Hoadley, on the corner of Monroe and Papago streets.

The girl was in the employ of Mr. Hoadley and used a five gallon can of coal oil to start a fire in the kitchen stove preparatory to getting dinner. The oil was ignited exploding the can and throwing the fire over the girl and setting fire to the house. She ran out in the yard screaming and enveloped in flames, attracted the attention of Hy McDonald who lives across the street on the north. Before he could reach her she had crossed the street on the west side and entered the house of A. C. Baker. Running out again Mr. McDonald's son George, met her in the door and wrapped his coat around her, throwing her upon the grass plot in front of the house. Mr. McDonald and Frank Moss, who at the same time ran up, by throwing blankets and their coats around her extinguished the flames.

Mr. Hoadley and wife who had been out riding drove up at this time, and he lost no time in bringing a physician, who ordered the poor sufferer removed to some more comfortable place. She was accordingly placed upon a litter constructed of a cot and carried upon the shoulders of a number of men to the house of her brother-in-law, Hans Herlick, on Maricopa street. It was found upon examination that the girl's clothes were all burned off, and at least three-fourths of the surface of her body fatally burned.
